U.S. Flights Over Cuba to Be Continued

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said today the United States will continue to fly aerial reconnaissance missions over Cuba whether or not the Soviets turn over to Cuba the anti-aircraft missile batteries they installed.

Any such transfer of control "will not affect our need for our plans for aerial reconnaissance," McNamara told the Advertising Council.

He stressed that the United States, under both Presidents John F. Kennedy and Johnson, stated very clearly "that we must have satisfactory inspection of Cuba to be sure that offensive weapons such as ballistic missiles are not introduced in that country."

In the absence of on-site inspection, McNamara said, the United States must fly aerial reconnaissance over Fidel Castro's country.

As for future prospects in Cuba, McNamara said that in view of the police state methods which have been applied to the population, he does not believe "we can expect any internal revolt in Cuba."

He covered a wide range of subjects in a brief talk and a question and answer session.

Viet Nam: "It is a very serious situation" but he expects to start seeing some improvement in the next few months. "It's going to be slow. It can't be won quickly—no guerrilla war ever has been."

Red China: Because of agricultural and economic problems and a lack of aircraft spare parts, he does not expect Red China to be a first-class military power for "many, many years."

Spending: The cost reduction program aimed at reducing operating expenses $4 billion a year by 1967 is on schedule. If the economy program continues to do as well "we can expect our defense budget at least in relative terms to decline in future years."

Ten Jurors Seated in Murder Trial

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Ten men were seated as jurors in the first degree murder trial of James Dean Walker, 22, of Reno, Nev., in circuit court here Tuesday.

He is charged with shooting North Little Rock Policeman Jerrell P. Vaughan in a gunfight April 16, 1963.

Vaughan had stopped a car outside North Little Rock after Walker and another man had been involved in a fight in a Little Rock club.

Prosecutor John Jernigan qualified the jurors for the death penalty.

Walker pleaded innocent and innocent by reason of insanity at his arraignment. Defense Attorney Harold Hall said the pleas would be maintained.

Judge William J. Kirby imposed tight security on the courtroom, with state and city officers stationed at entrances to search persons entering the court room.

The security precautions were taken because on April 22, 1963, three persons kidnapped an Arkansas Baptist Hospital employee and tried to learn from him the number of Walker's room. The defendant was in the hospital recuperating from bullet wounds.

World's Trading Giants Get Green Light on Talks for a 50 Per Cent Tariff Cut

By CARL HARTMAN
GENEVA (AP)—The drive that President John F. Kennedy started to free world trade got a green light today from the chief negotiators at the 75-nation Kennedy Round talks.

The world's trading giants—the United States, Britain and the European Common Market—agreed to negotiate on the basis of a 50 per cent, across-the-board reduction in tariffs. But that is only a goal, and the final cuts won't average that much.

When negotiations are concluded, in 1965 or 1966, the result should be more business for all and a brake on rising prices. This is the purpose of the Kennedy Round of trade negotiations, which the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade—GATT—opened in Geneva this week.

Even some Communist countries will go along in this attempt to improve trade. Czechoslovakia already is a member of GATT. Poland is working hard for greater participation.

American officials were of the talks.

U.S. tariffs, though twice cut in half over the last 30 years, still are in many cases much higher than the tariffs of other countries.

A rule is to be worked out that will cut these higher American tariffs by the full 50 per cent and reduce the corresponding European tariffs by a lower margin, perhaps 25 per cent.

Each country involved also will submit lists of exceptions for items which must be dealt with separately. A deadline on Sept. 10 was set for these lists, that is when the tough bargaining will start.

The New York Times reported today that the Soviet Union, which has repeatedly denounced the Common Market, has put out tentative feelers about establishing relations with the West European economic bloc.

A Times dispatch from Geneva said Western diplomats are speculating that the Russians soon will accredit a mission to the Brussels headquarters of the Common Market.

"The Russian interest appears to be an application of the maximum: If you can't lick them, join them," the Times said.

Amendment Vote Today on Rights Bill?

By JOE HALL
WASHINGTON (AP)—Results of Tuesday's primary elections provided ammunition today for political exchanges on the Senate floor over the long-debated civil rights bill.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., supporters of the bill, contended that what they called the "2 to 1 defeat" of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace in the Indiana Democratic presidential primary was a clear mandate for Senate passage of the bill.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., floor manager for Southern opponents of the measure, retorted that the Wallace showing was "a truly astounding vote. There is no way to devastate that fact."

And, Russell commented, Wallace, although an "outsider from the South," had polled more votes in Wisconsin earlier this year than Humphrey, from neighboring Minnesota, did in 1960 when Humphrey sought the Democratic presidential nomination.

It was the 49th day of the marathon debate on the bill.

However, there was the prospect of a vote late in the day on one of the dozens of pending amendments — one by Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., for jury trial of criminal contempt cases.

There was an informal agreement on the bill.

Wallace Has Clear Victory in Indiana

By WALTER R. MEARS
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP)—Gov. George C. Wallace, the Alabama invader who championed states' rights, claimed a victory for his cause today, but Democratic Gov. Matthew E. Welsh held the field for President Johnson in Indiana's presidential primary.

Wallace, who made his campaign a crusade against Johnson's civil rights bill, piled up a big protest vote in Tuesday's balloting, but his showing fell short of the upset he ran in Wisconsin against another favorite-son stand-in for Johnson.

In a Republican race all but eclipsed by the steaming Democratic contest, Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater grabbed Indiana's 32 votes at the Republican National Convention.

But former Minnesota Gov. Harold E. Stassen, his only serious rival, made an unexpected dent in his margin.

With 3,946 of 4,416 precincts counted, Welsh had captured 322,754 votes to 147,357 for Wallace.

That gave the Alabama governor 29.6 per cent of the Democratic turnout and 17.6 per cent of the total vote.

Three minor candidates split 27,309 votes.

Goldwater polled 227,703 votes in 3,701 precincts. Stassen had 91,119. That gave him 26.9 per cent of the Republican turnout. Goldwater had 67.1 per cent.

Frank Beckwith, a Negro attorney from Indianapolis, captured 14,698 GOP votes. Joseph G. Ertl of South Bend had 5,646.

Except for the upset total Wallace polled in Wisconsin April 7, in his first Northern foray against the civil rights measure, his Indiana showing would have been a major surprise.

Running against Wisconsin Gov. John W. Reynolds, Wallace captured 33.7 per cent of the Democratic vote and 24.4 per cent of the total turnout.

Thinks Russia Building Subs at 10 a Year

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet Union may be building atomic-powered submarines at a rate of seven to 10 a year, U.S. sources estimate.

This would appear to about match the American production schedule.

Available records show that in the last full year, the United States constructed nine nuclear-powered submarines, either Polaris or attack ships.

This was below the planned average of one commissioning per month. That plan was upset by new and tighter construction safety requirements, established after the loss of the Thresher a year ago.

The U.S. program carries construction through only about another two or three years, when building of 41 Polaris and 44 attack submarines will have been completed and the last of them put into fitting-out yards for final work.

The Soviet Union has given no indication of a termination date for her atomic submarine program.

As the Soviets have progressed into the atomic submarine field, they appear to have eased off on some of the supersecrecy which surrounded their effort at the outset of the attempt to catch up or surpass the United States.

From time to time, Soviet nuclear-powered submarines are seen surfaced, whereas before they probably operated close to home or in arctic waters immediately north of the Soviet homeland. Those reported as sighted, up to now, have been in the eastern Atlantic region.

The estimated production rate for the Soviets is not broken down between missile-firing and attack submarines.

The British publication, "Jane's Fighting Ships," says in its latest edition that the Soviet Union had by the latter half of last year 26 atomic-powered submarines in operation. At that time, the United States had about 30 in commission.

The U.S. Navy now has 18 attack-type ships and 19 Polaris ships in commission, with 13 of the latter deployed on station in the eastern Atlantic.

Welsh blamed Republicans who switched ballots for the Wallace showing.

The Alabama governor insisted, "It shows that the great number of people in every state share our philosophy."

Wallace had invited Republican backing, saying a substantial showing would foster conservatism in both parties.

Democratic State Chairman J. Manfred Core said he thought about 10 per cent of the Wallace vote represented Republicans who took Democratic ballots.

Welsh, who is serving his last year as governor, stirred a storm of opposition when he battled his way through the courts to win enactment of Indiana's first sales tax.

State political leaders agreed that many of the votes for Wallace were protests against the governor.

The Alabama governor takes on another administration favorite son, Sen. Daniel Brewster, in the Maryland presidential primary May 19.

Ruling for Cotton Bill Is Rushed

MEMPHIS (AP) — A department of Agriculture examiner prepared to wrap up a hearing on the price equalization fee authorized by the recently enacted cotton bill today to meet a deadline by Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman.

The hearing, opened in Charlotte, N.C. last week and continued here Monday, seeks to find the best spot to pay the 6.5-cent price equalization fee.

A committee will review the testimony in Washington next Monday and Tuesday and make a recommendation to Freeman, who has said he wants the answer by May 15.

An international cotton merchant testified Monday he believes the payments should go to the first buyer rather than other handlers because it is "the only way to a one-price system."

Everett R. Cook, board chairman of Cook & Co., of Memphis told the some 400 cotton industry representatives:

"A one-price system is essential to buyer confidence and it does away with the export subsidy on raw cotton and arouses less criticism from cotton growing countries which accuse us of dumping."

Cook's view was taken to be generally that of the shippers, the futures exchanges, some mills and some producers. He spoke for the Southern Cotton Association.

George C. Cortright of Rolling Fork, Miss., chairman of the Farm Policy Committee of the Delta Council, objected to the first buyer approach.

Cortright strongly urged that the 6.5 cent per pound cotton subsidy be paid to the last handler of the staple — usually a mill or an exporter.

R. W. Williamson of Dallas, president of the Texas Cotton Association, suggested the payment-in-kind certificate be attached to the warehouse receipt and that it be redeemable ment for a vote which was not expected to be particularly meaningful except possibly as an ice-breaker for later additional votes.

Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he was hopeful his colleagues would go ahead promptly and take all of the votes needed to dispose of the jury trial issue, finishing with it tonight or Thursday.

But he pointed out there is no assurance that this can be done. Ordinarily when the Senate begins voting on amendments to a major bill, the leaders have obtained an iron-clad agreement fixing an hour for the roll call or limiting debate on each amendment to an hour or two.

But nothing of the kind has been possible on the House-passed civil rights bill. Thus a vote can come only when the 19 Southerners fighting it fall silent and permit the test.

Both Democratic and Republican leaders voiced concern Tuesday that invitations from President Johnson for an out-of-town trip might delay the final jury trial votes until next week.

The President, leaving early Thursday for another tour of Appalachia, invited senators from the states he will visit to accompany him.

It was learned that a Democratic leader protested sharply to the White House, declaring this would mean an upset to the delicate negotiations which finally had produced a willingness for some votes.

However, some of the senators said they would decline the invitations and remain behind for the votes.

Mansfield told a reporter no request from any senator had come to him for delays because of his presidential trip. He said that if there were absentees, he would be glad to arrange pairs—a device often used to protect a missing senator on a vote.

Off the Senate floor, Democratic and Republican leaders continue a series of meetings with Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy which may have much to do with the final fate of the bill.

State Case on Harris Continuing

HARRISBURG, Ark. (AP)

The state will continue its presentation of witnesses here today in the first degree murder trial of Frank Harris, 57, of Jonesboro.

Harris is charged in the deaths of Mrs. Leonard Dever and four of her daughters at their farm home near Trumann last Dec. 20.

An all-male jury was qualified for the death penalty, attorneys made their opening statements, the state began presentation of its case as the trial opened Monday.

Harris already has been convicted and sentenced to life in prison for the slaying of Mrs. Dever's husband. The Devers were slain and their house was set on fire. The four girls died in the fire, but another girl and a boy escaped.

Harris' Attorney, Bon McCortney, said in his opening statement that he would present evidence that Harris fled from the Dever home after Dever beat him and said Harris did not shoot anyone.

In the earlier trial, the two surviving Dever children testified that a man came to their home, shot their mother and father and set fire to the house.

McCortney told the jury that Harris went to the Dever house to buy liquor and said Dever struck Harris under the eye with a .22-caliber rifle, knocked him down and shot at him.

McCortney said evidence would show that Harris fled as soon as he had the chance.

Five witnesses testified for the state Monday. All testified in the earlier trial.

Among them were Charles Frierson, Dever's landlord, who said Dever often carried large amounts of money; Edna Rowan, a store operator, who said she had seen Dever with as much as $5,000 on him; and Cecil Deedman who said he saw the Dever house in flames and went there about 10 p.m.

Floyd Henderson Blake, who lived about three miles from the Dever home, said Harris came to his house about 10:55 p.m. on the night of the slaying and told him the lights had gone out on his car. Blake said he gave Harris a ride to Harris' home at Jonesboro.

Another witness, Dave Holsted said he saw Harris at 7:30 p.m. on the night of the slaying and said Harris wore glasses and had no cut on his eye.

Blake said Harris wore glasses to his house.

Bankers Told How to Help Selves

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas

bankers got the inside story here Tuesday on how they may be able to help themselves — through industrial financing.

William H. Kennedy Jr., chairman of the industrial committee of the Arkansas Bankers Association, said industrial financing "is a field they can engage in."

Discussions of "A banker's opportunity in Arkansas," and "A banker's opportunity in industrial financing," and other topics brought out the idea.

Kennedy said many bankers are not familiar with the types of things a banker can do.

The program was designed to show bankers some opportunities in the state's industrial growth that they might be missing.

Helena to Vote on Chemical Plant

HELENA, Ark. (AP)—Helena voters will decide June 9 whether to finance construction of a $33 million chemical fertilizer complex.

At issue will be a $29 million bond issue, under Act 9 of 1960. The bonds involve no tax.

Arkansas Louisiana Chemical Co., a subsidiary of Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co., would build the complex here. It has set aside $4 million for it.

George W. Dickey of Stephens Inc., an investment firm, said the issue would be the largest made under Act 9, and the second largest industrial aid bond issue ever made in the U.S.

He said a Kentucky town of 600 approved a $50 million issue. Stephens, Inc. is one of several firms designated by the Helena City Council to handle sale of the bonds.

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel has started testing its Jordan River diversion project to channel irrigation water into the Negev Desert.

Officials said if several weeks of tests are satisfactory, the project will go into operation this summer.

Leaders of the 13 Arab states have warned they will oppose the project under "the legitimate right of self-defense." They are making plans to divert headwaters of the rivers.

MONTREAL (AP) — Hal C. Banks, deposed kingpin of the Canadian waterfronts, has appealed a five-year prison sentence for conspiracy in the beating of a rival union official.

The Quebec Court of Appeals received the appeal Tuesday but declined to fix bail until it studied the trial transcript.

Banks, former president of the Seafarer's International Union of Canada, was convicted in connection with the beating in 1957 of Capt. Henry Francis Walsh, an organizer for the Canadian Merchant Service Guild.

ADELAIDE, Australia (AP)—An American sailor was found shot to death today aboard the U.S. destroyer Gridley, docked here on a goodwill visit.

The Gridley's public information officer said the sailor died of a self-inflicted wound. An investigation was under way to determine whether the death was accidental or suicide.

TOKYO (AP)—The American cable ship Long Lines has resumed laying the last link of the U.S.-Japan telephone circuit after fishing up and repairing a deep-sea cable which broke Monday.

Japanese officials said they received word the ship found the broken cable 68 miles east of Japan and lowered an anchor-like device to retrieve it from a depth of 4,000 feet.

The accident is not expected to delay the opening of the Japan-Hawaii circuit scheduled for June 19.

Officials Quit While Ahead

PASCO, Wash. (AP)—Pasco city officials should have quit while they were ahead.

About a month ago they ordered a new head count hoping for a substantial increase in the per capita distribution of state liquor and gasoline taxes to cities.

The census, which cost $1,567, showed a population loss of 823 since last year, down to 15,677. As a result, Pasco stands to lose about $13,100 this year in state funds.

SHORT RIBS

"DEAR ABBY"

Play It Straight, Lady!
By Abigail Van Buren

Dear Abby: We were married 14 years and I never dreamed that anything was wrong with our marriage. Suddenly my husband started to take an interest in poker. Last March he went to a poker game that lasted all week. At the end of the week a woman called me three times in one day telling me that she and my husband were "in love" and he didn't have the nerve to ask me for a divorce. I told her if my husband wanted a divorce he would have to ask me for it. He still hasn't asked me, and I am keeping my mouth shut. But he still "plays poker" all night twice a week. I am 33, she is 29 and my husband is 35. If he gets up the nerve to ask me for a divorce, it will tear up two sets of children. Ours are 5, 7, 10, and 12. Hers are 4, 3, and 10 months old. What should I do?

Waiting
Dear Waiting: Get some counseling from either your clergyman or your family service association and try to put your marriage back on the track. Find out why it became necessary for your husband to seek female companionship elsewhere. You may not like what you learn, but it could save your marriage. Good luck.

Dear Abby: When I had my marriage announcements printed, I had the following message placed at the bottom: Please — No Gifts! I did it for three very good reasons: (1) I do not need anything, (2) I have no room in my small apartment to store anything, (3) I have no time to write "thank you notes." In spite of this, the gifts poured in. Why can't people be more considerate and oblige?

Annoyed
Dear Annoyed: Aw c'mon. Ingrained responses aren't easily changed. Surely you can find something other than your friends' generosity to "annoy" you.

Dear Abby: If that 16-year-old girl, whose drinking father hocked her boy friend's ring wants to get the ring back, all she has to do is go to the pawn shop and demand it. If they do not deliver up the ring, she can get the cooperation of the police in recovering stolen property (her father DID help himself to the ring, she stated). Otherwise she can, (through a lawyer) replevy the ring by legal process. It all depends on how far the girls wants to go in making things uncomfortable for her father. In my book, anyone who hocks property he does not own is no better than a common thief.

Anonymous Lawyer (Hartford)

Dear Abby: I agree with your answer to "Punished Enough." Twice I've had to call my parents because I was going to be home later than I said I would, and it sure helped to give them confidence in me. One night I ended up an hour and a half late, because of car trouble. But just because I called home and told them, they weren't even mad! I shudder to think of what would have happened if I hadn't called them.

Bonus Baby in a Brilliant One Hit Game

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

When Wally Bunker nodded his okay to eager Baltimore Orioles scouts last summer and signed a $70,000 bonus contract with the Orioles, he probably never dreamed that he'd be deceived like just what happened to the 19-year-old pitching prodigy Tuesday when Manager Hank Bauer sent him out to the mound against the Washington Senators.

The youngster hadn't worked since the Orioles' final exhibition game and Bauer told him he'd go just four or five innings against the Senators. After five innings Bunker had allowed just one hit and Bauer was about as far away from the bullpen phone as a manager could be.

Four innings later Bunker had his first major league victory 2-1 on a brilliant one-hitter and Bauer another starter for his pitching rotation.

Chuck Hinton managed Washington's only hit off the young right-hander in the fourth inning when the Senators scored their run.

Elsewhere in the American League, the New York Yankees blew a lead in the ninth inning but came back to nip the Detroit Tigers 4-3 in 10 innings; Los Angeles stole some of Kansas City's home run thunder and whacked the Athletics 8-1 and Boston blanked Cleveland 5-3.

In the National League Warren Spahn chalked up his 63rd career shutout as Milwaukee blanked New York 6-0; St. Louis nipped Philadelphia 2-1; San Francisco nipped Houston 2-1 and Frank Robinson's two home runs helped Cincinnati come from behind for a 3-4 victory over Pittsburgh. Chicago and Los Angeles had the day off.

Tebbetts Is Ready to Go Home

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — Cleveland Indians Manager Birdie Tebbetts was to leave a Tucson hospital today after more than a month of convalescing from a heart attack.

"I've been reading in the papers that I'm through for the season, but I don't believe it," said Tebbetts, who has been hospitalized since April 1.

Tebbetts will go to the Mayo Clinic at Rochester, Minn., for a complete physical examination, and then to his home at Anna Maria Island, Fla., for a long rest before returning to work.

"I intend to convince the doctors that I can get back as manager," said Tebbetts, still wearing a deep tan despite five weeks in the hospital.

Dr. Arthur Dudley, heart specialist, said Tebbetts has been making "a very satisfactory recovery."

"Any kind of a recovery is satisfactory," Tebbetts retorted. Asked what he would do if the doctors ruled he could never return to the team, Tebbetts replied, "If I don't go back to baseball, I'll be dead."

Tebbetts, brought out in a wheelchair for his first news conference since the heart attack, described his condition like this: "I can walk, not run, to the nearest exit."

Despite his eagerness to get back to the Tribe, Tebbetts said he was not worried about the league-leading team being without its manager.

He said acting manager George Strickland "is doing a great job."

Green Bay Happy to Get Punch Back

By DAVE O'HARA
Associated Press Sports Writer

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP) — Green Bay's Paul Hornung, the penitent "Golden Boy," and fullback Jim Taylor will find a stranger up front this season when they try to regain status as the National Football League's top 1-2 rushing punch.

The Packers broke up the awesome offensive line molded by Coach Vince Lombardi in 1959 by sending center Jim Ringo, along with reserve fullback Earl Gros, to the Philadelphia Eagles Tuesday.

In exchange, the trade-happy Eagles, swinging their fourth major trade since March 11, gave up linebacker LeRoy Calfrey and rights to their No. 1 selection in the NFL draft next December.

The trade left the Packers without an experienced center on their roster. Lombardi plans to test offensive tackle Bob Skoronski at the post.

Green Bay's seventh draft choice in 1963, was a key man in the deal although he will be 33 next Nov. 21. An all-NFL selection for the past seven years, Ringo was a key blocker as the Packers powered their way to Western Division titles in 1960, '61 and '62, winning the NFL championship the latter two years.

The Packers posted an 11-2-1 record last season and finished second to the Chicago Bears in the West. Ringo played his 10th straight season without missing a game, but some observers felt he had slowed.

Ringo, a former Syracuse University standout who now lives near Easton, Pa., said he doesn't know whether he'll continue playing. He plans to talk things over with his wife, Lombardi and Philadelphia owner Jerry Wolman.

Ringo helped form a mighty forward wall which helped Hornung to scoring championships in 1959, '60 and '61, and Taylor to the scoring and ground-gaining titles in 1962.

The 24-year-old Gros, the Packers' No. 1 draft choice three years ago after starring at Louisiana State, had little chance to show his wares as understudy to Taylor. The 230-pound speedster carried only 77 times for 367 yards and four touchdowns in limited service for Green Bay.

Thinks Russia Can Be Beaten at Own Game

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — If we have to beat the Russians we should do it with our own system and not be hypocrites, the coach of the U.S. Olympic track and field team insisted today.

"Who said we should fight fire with fire?" asked Bob Glegenack of Yale University, who will lead our runners and jumpers into Tokyo next October.

"It's a lot of gobbledygook. 'We don't have to give in to their way. We don't have to sacrifice our ideals. I'd rather stay home than to go over there and win without honor.'"

Glegenack added a sobering voice to a growing wave of alarm over the increased athletic strength of the Russians in the Olympic Games and a drop-off in America's over-all medal collection.

The U.S. Olympic Committee announced Monday a long-range program, probably costing millions, aimed at restoring U.S. sports superiority. Tuesday, the nation's 15,000 commercial banks were called upon to aid in the solicitation of Olympic funds.

"The Russians have made a propaganda vehicle out of this great sports spectacle," said Gen. Rosie O'Donnell, chairman of the Olympic businessmen's finance committee.

Douglas Roby of Detroit, vice president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, said the Russian emphasis on sports was putting tremendous pressure on the United States, "enhancing their own and downgrading our national image."

He suggested emphasis on women sports and on sports such as gymnastics, fencing, weightlifting in which the Russians excel.

Lyman Bingham, executive director of the USOC, said there was strong pressure from Congress and other government bodies to copy the Soviet Union's strict discipline and Spartan training methods.

"One Russian can throw us in a dither," he said.

Bingham's top aide, Art Lentz, added, "All we have to do is lose a basketball game to the Russians, and all hell breaks loose. We're hounded at every turn, but there would really be a storm if we insisted on putting out athletes under government control."

Glegenack agreed, and intimated that the loudest yelp would come from him.

Keane Hurls Cards to 2-1 Win Over Phils

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

"We couldn't want him much better," said St. Louis Manager Johnny Keane. "It means an awful lot to us to have him back."

Keane was talking about pitcher Ray Washburn, who Tuesday night made his first start since returning from the minors and scattered seven Philadelphia hits before needing ninth-inning relief help in the Cardinals' 2-1 victory over the Phillies.

Washburn has purposely been brought along slowly by Keane, who feels the young right-hander figures heavily in the Cardinals' National League pennant chances. A healthy Washburn would give St. Louis a starting staff that also includes Ernie Broglio, Bob Gibson, Curt Simmons and Roger Craig.

Apparently, Keane's patience is going to be rewarded. Washburn had a two-hit shutout for six innings, but seemed to tire in the eighth when Tony Gonzalez homered, and Ron Taylor came on in the ninth to finish up.

At San Francisco, meanwhile, Giants' Manager Al Dark took an extra precaution with Willie Mays, pulled him out of the line-up because of the cold weather and let the Alou brothers, Matty and Jesus, lead the way to a 2-1 decision over Houston.

Elsewhere in the National League, Milwaukee's Warren Spahn stopped the New York Mets 6-0 with a four-hitter for the 63rd shutout of his career and Frank Robinson hit two homers in Cincinnati's 5-4 victory over Pittsburgh. The Los Angeles Dodgers and Chicago Cubs were not scheduled.

In American League action, the New York Yankees edged Detroit 4-3 in 10 innings, Boston blanked Cleveland 4-0, Baltimore nipped Washington 2-1 and the Los Angeles Angels walloped Kansas City 8-1. Minnesota and the Chicago White Sox were not scheduled.

The Cardinals jumped on Phillies starter Jim Bunning for four hits and both their runs in the fifth inning. Johnny Lewis' leadoff double and a single by Phil Gagliano produced one run. Singles by Cur Flood and Bill White then brought in the clincher. The loss was the fourth straight for the Phillies.

With Dark protecting Mays' pulled leg muscle in the cold weather, Matty Alou played center field and came up with three hits. His brother Jesus, collected two. Together they produced the decisive run in the fifth when Jesus singled, stole second and scored on Matty's single. Jack Sanford was the winner with Bob Shaw's relief help.

Bannister Sees Even Faster Mile

LONDON (AP) — Dr. Roger Bannister celebrated the 10th anniversary of his 3:59.4 mile — the first to break the four-minute barrier — with champagne today and forecast a 3:45 mile will be run more than a decade later.

Bannister, now 34 and an eminent specialist in nervous diseases, dined out at a post-midnight party with two men who paced him to the world mark, Chris Chataway and Chris Brasher.

Chataway now is a member of Parliament and junior minister in the Conservative government. Brasher's a prominent newsman and television producer.

They meet every year on the mile anniversary. This year they made it something special and took their wives along.

Bannister said he expects to see the mile record lowered to 3:45 but added:

"It will not be in the next 10 years. It will come when runners on the standard of Peter Snell and Herb Elliott meet in an important race."

New Zealand's Snell holds the world record of 3:54.4. Elliott, of Australia, hit 3:54.5 in August 1958, but retired from the track without ever meeting Snell.

Physically Bannister seems little changed from the historic evening when he tore up Oxford University's Iley Road track in 3:59.4.

He now scales 162 pounds, only eight pounds more than at his peak fitness.

Stolen bases — Wills, Los Angeles, 8; Harper, Chicago, and W. Davis, Los Angeles, 6.

Pitching — Marichal, San Francisco, 4-0, 1.000; Farrell, Houston; Fikcher, Milwaukee, and Shaw, San Francisco, 3-0.

Strikeouts — Bunning, Philadelphia, and Marichal, San Francisco, 31.

PITCHING — Wally Bunker, Orioles, pitched a one-hitter in his first start of the year, allowing only a third-inning single by Chuck Hinton in Baltimore's 2-1 victory over Washington.

BATTING — Frank Robinson, Reds, collected a single and two homers, the second homer tying the game in the ninth before Cincinnati pulled out a 5-4 decision over Pittsburgh.
